Wild About Exploring a Career in Conservation?

Nestled along the St. Mary's River in mixed wetland and forest habitats, White Oak is a working conservation facility with over 17,000 acres of land focused on species recovery, education, and habitat restoration. White Oak has an impressive track record of rehabilitation and reintroduction programs, including work with Florida grasshopper sparrows, Florida panthers, and Mississippi sandhill cranes. White Oak is a proud member of the Association of Zoos and Aquariums (AZA).

Our Locals Only Internship program provides training opportunities to candidates that have a strong interest in conservation careers in zookeeping or veterinary science. Applicants must live within 50 miles of White Oak. This internship is perfect for early-career adults and college students looking to explore career paths.

Interns provide 40 hours of service per week. Internship lengths vary from 1-3 months, depending upon learning goals of the applicant, and staff availability. Interns receive a monthly stipend.
